

Lobbying, donations to political parties

AURELIUS advocates against political lobbying for its employees, both in Germany and abroad. Furthermore, no persons or organisations are commissioned to lobby government representatives, authorities or political organisations. AURELIUS supports the introduction of transparency rules (e.g., lobby registers) in the political systems in which companies safeguard their interests.

The AURELIUS Group does not donate to political parties, politicians or candidates for political office.